

CABINET FOR MR. BRYAN

BAD BREATH

It is Fairly Well Known
Whom He Would Not Have

The McKinley organza are now continuing a contest for Mr. Bryan. Of course no one is in a position to speak authoritatively in this matter. No one knows just who he would have, but it is fairly well understood whom he would not have in his cabinet.

He would not have a secretary of state who would kick the boots of senators.

He would not have a secretary of the treasurer who would give a certificate of national numbers the content of the public domain and true use of the public money.

He would not have an attorney general named by the Senate.

He would not have a secretary of the interior dominated by land grubbing exponents.

He would not have a postmaster general who would conceal funds that were perpetrated by Railroads and Steel.

He would not have a secretary of the navy selected by the Senate.

He would not have a secretary of war controlled by the beef trust.

In this connection it may be remarked that the Republican newspapers are also exercised over another matter. They profess to be greatly alarmed owing to the fact that Mr. Bryan if elected might perhaps be called upon to appoint seven members of the supreme court.

It is well for the Republican papers to call the attention of the people to these supreme court combinations.

The people of America have three things to think about today. They have trusts, imperialism, municipal ownership, the Declaration of Independence versus commercial interests, and in addition to them they must make up their minds whether they prefer William J. Bryan or Mr. Hanna to name seven supreme court justices to interpret the United States constitution.

We believe that every intelligent American, whether he be the poorest laborer or the most prosperous merchant or manufacturer, would prefer that the supreme court justices should be named by Mr. Bryan rather than by Mr. Hanna. We don't believe that many voters, even in the Republican party, doubt that Mr. Hanna would be extremely influential if not on account in the selection of the men who may succeed Justices Gray, Fuller, Shiras, Harlan, Brewer, Brown and White. Everybody knows the sort of men that Mr. Hanna would select if the choice were left to him, and everybody knows also what sort of men Mr. Bryan would select.

The supreme court of the United States is the greatest power for good or evil in the nation. Yet it is only, after all, the judgment and integrity of the men who select supreme court justices that the people have to rely upon.

There is no need to discuss the sort of men that Mr. Hanna would select for the supreme court. Even if he acted conscientiously it would be the worst possible thing for the country, since his view of the nation's welfare is based on the belief that courts and laws should tend to make the rich free from taxes and the trusts mighty.

Mr. Bryan would name for the supreme court, and every fate intended man knows it perfectly well—the ablest interpreters of constitutional law whom he could find. He would be guided solely by the desire to put upon the supreme bench men worthy of the highest judicial office in the world.

If such men should interpret the constitution so as to protect of an income tax—and we believe that they would—Mr. Bryan would undoubtedly be glad of it.

But it is impossible for a moment to think that he would ask in advance the opinion of any man whom he could appoint or accept any pledge. He would select the ablest available American jurists. He would certainly not select men who had spent their lives as paid legal clerks of trusts or corporations. He would select honorable American statesmen accustomed to look upon the constitution as the nation's great defender and not accustomed to look upon it as so obstinate to be overcome in the service of big business and monopoly.

If our next Bryan is to nominate the justices of the supreme court, let us hope for Bryan.

If our next Hanna is to nominate the justices of the supreme court, this is McKinley.

TIME TO THINK.

According to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor, the Republicans propose will repeat the Chinese trick and act and paint the history in front of the country with cheap labor. This while the other places are starting in the United States. Workhouses of America, what do you think of this suggestion? Is it not time to stop and think?

BRYAN IN THE WEST.

A Citizen of Oklahoma Protests Vigorously for the Champion of Human Rights.

Bartlesville City (Ind.)—Telegraph: W. F. Courtney, a prominent business man and politician of Kingman, Oklahoma, has written a letter to his neighbor, G. E. McCormick, of this city, in regard to the political situation in the west.

If the leading Democratic papers of the east are reliable, Bryan will be elected by a large majority in November.

The great political war has struck Oklahoma and the free silver forces are gathering themselves together as they did in 1896, when they swept nearly every county in the territory.

Tellement: I feel it my duty to express to you my gratitude for what your wonderful remedy has done for me. I was completely run down with a complication of stomach disorders. For ten months I could not work and was treated by three eminent physicians. One insisted upon operating on me, declaring nothing short of an operation for appendicitis would cure me. A friend induced me to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi and from the first dose I began to improve, and have not had any trouble since. I have gained 25 pounds in weight and am enjoying the very best of health. I never fail to say a good word for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi for I know what it has done for me it will do for others. Gratefully yours,

Charles Garry.

Nell's speech at the opera house yesterday afternoon was a revelation to everyone who heard it in fact it created a sensation in the town. Most every one pronounces it the greatest political speech ever delivered in this city. Some of the other men who are now and long Nell compared him to Stephen A. Douglas. It is certain that from 30 to 100 Democratic votes in this city can be attributed directly to that speech. Ed. Dean Glavin.

NOTHING CONDITION OF RECORDS.

County Clerk Has Not Only Bumped the Records, Kept no Intelligible Accout of the Different Funds, But is Criminally Negligent, Instances Showing Wherein He Has Grossly Violated the Statutes.

Let the Logan county taxpayer go to the county clerk's office and examine the salary account for 1898. On the county clerk's ledger, which he says is his only account, he has of that fund, on which to BALANCE OUT the county treasurer, for the salary fund levied and collected for the year 1898, the record shows the balance brought forward from the settlement made Dec. 31, 1897, is $1,198.27. The total tax levy for the salary fund in 1898 was $1,218.30. If there was an uncollected tax, no delinquent personal, and no property sold to the county for unpaid taxes of the levy of 1898 this amount would show $11,497.37, while the actual debts or amounts collected show $13,500.00. The treasurer is credited by warrants received and interest with $9,882.15, and by balance $3,677.23. Where are the credits the treasurer should have for uncollected personal property, for real estate lands and lots sold to the county; for errors in the valuation of both real and personal property for�akes, or corrections made by the commissioners? In less than these credits are given the treasurer from the amount of the levy of $1,218.30, and a balance found, how can one tell what the balance of uncollected real and personal property is in the salary fund tax? This $10,239.40 should be a separate account. On the book in the clerk's office, known as the annual settlement book of tax account, the treasurer should be charged with this amount, together with the tax on railroads, police cars and telephone companies and all other taxes placed upon the book after it was levied. Then the treasurer should be credited with the uncollected personal property with the lands and lots sold in the county, with any errors in the extension of this tax on personal property or upon lands or lots. This should be deducted from the total annual charge as above and such balance shown should balance with the warrants paid by the treasurer on this road during the year and the actual cash on hand, as shown by his annual report required to be made to the county clerk and county commissioners jointly. This is not the quarterly report required to be made to the commissioners alone, but is an annual balancing of all tax and every fund.

If the leading Democratic papers of the east are reliable, Bryan will be elected by a large majority in November. The bond is issued. The Bryan's year and the bold champion of equal rights anti-slavery and anti-slavery has awakened the people all over the country as never before. The hand writing is on the wall and the豫豫 is leaving Mr. McKinley and is on its way away. Mark Hanna. This political revolution in the east pervades the great central west, the northwest and the Pacific slope, and the idea of Nebraska is on the wave of popular opinion that will carry him to the white house.

The great political war has struck Oklahoma and the free silver forces are gathering themselves together as they did in 1896, when they swept nearly every county in the territory.
